My dear Professor Needler,-

I have just heard from Professor A. E. Lang that Dr. Kartzke will be glad to come this Autumn, provided we can make arrangements with the Prussian Minister of Education. I have therefore written both to Berlin direct and to the Carnegie Foundation making application for Dr. Kartzke. He has already served for two years on this side as an exchange teacher, and I think we should be fortunate if we can get him. It may be difficult, however, at this time for the Prussian Ministry to make arrangements, but we will hope for the best.

I trust that you are having a good holiday.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Dr. Needler:

I have not yet had any word from the Prussian Ministry of Education as to an exchange teacher for next winter. Of course there has hardly been time, but would not it be well for us to take steps to secure some one in case we ~~are~~, not ~~hear~~ from Prussia? Would it not be well for me to write to Professor Calvin Thomas for names to which we might apply provisionally? Are there any others of whom you think to whom you could write?

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Dear Mr. President,

I hope sincerely that good fortune will not desert us, and that you will still get Dr. Hartigke to come over for the year. To guard against the awkward situation that would arise in case the Prussian Ministry of Education is slow in replying and should then refuse to grant your request, it might be well, as you suggest, to write meanwhile to Professor Calvin Thomas and perhaps also to Primo Francke in Harvard for other names.

As the choice of available men will become more restricted the longer you have to wait for a reply from Berlin, it may be impossible to get anyone of larger caliber than Mr. Walter Stuth, whose testimonial we have had from Chicago. I don't know, of course, whether he could still come. But from what Professor Cuttong said

Dear Mr. President,

From Dr. Northrup I learn that Prof. Vreeland is absent from Princeton for the year. The other members of the German staff there are G.M. Priest, Max Blau and Mr. Hoskins, -- Priest being a Preceptor, while I am not sure of the official standing of the others.

Yours faithfully,

G. H. Needler
